My Experience with APALSA

Hey everyone! My name is Sachi Spaulding and I'm running with Will for Social Co-Chair!

Community in law school is extremely important, and APALSA provides that community for me. I want to help encourage and foster that community for others, too. I have a lot of experience in event planning, and want to take those skills and apply them to APALSA. I worked in Japan after graduating from college, organizing and then leading a conference on mental health. In college, I was in a social board position for my Japanese American affinity group, and that was one of the most rewarding and important aspects of my college career.

Committee Goals

For APALSA, I want to get people more engaged early on, and increase the ability for people to know each other socially, and outside of their class years. My experience early on was that APALSA had a great number of wonderful, diverse events early on to bring in the 1Ls, but that a fair amount of the more personally social ones weren't advertised, and hinged on whether one knew they were happening. I think that made it very inclusive for those who had already established connections, but was an obstacle for those still finding their place. I think by making these early events more inclusive and better advertised, while perhaps working more closely with our overlapping peer-affinity groups earlier on, would foster a stronger, healthier and larger community with APALSA. Things may have to be adapted depending on the situation come fall, but we'll take that in stride! We hope we have your vote and we'll work hard for all of you!
